Services to Family Office

Group Eleven works with a number of high-net-worth family offices all of which have different needs and who operate through diverse governance frameworks. Our approach is to support and enhance their existing arrangements by providing complementary services in a professional and unobtrusive manner.

Some of the families we work with already have established family offices in place whilst others are supported by a long-term advisor or employee who will often operate outside of any formal governance structure. Some family offices will focus on wealth management and investment performance whilst others will focus on business activities or day-to-day diary management and travel.

Regardless of how large or small, sophisticated or formative their existing family governance is, every family will at some point need to assess how they can benefit from working with a third party professional services provider in order to obtain specialist advice, enhance governance, mitigate risk or reduce cost.

Group Eleven is well equipped to support families with a broad range of services. Initially these tend to focus around trust and corporate structuring for wealth preservation or business needs. However, as the relationship develops so our services can adapt depending upon client need.
